What Happens When Someone Tuns 18?

When someone turns 18 years old, they become an adult and are usually responsible for themselves and thier educational decisions unless a legal process gives some of that responsibility to a parent or guardian. Here are some things that change when a person turns 18:

- They gain certain rights and access to records that their parents or guardian used to handle. This includes the right to know and agree to evaluations, invite more people to meetings about their education, and make decisions about specialized education and related services. Parents are still informed about meetings, but the rights now belong to the student. An 18-year-old can also allow their parents or other adults access to their educational records by giving permission.
- If a person received Supplemental Security Income (SSI) benefits for a disability, they may lose those benefits as an adult, depending on their disabilities. Before their 18th birthday, their eligibility will be reviewed using different standards for adults.
- Their health insurance coverage may change. In Florida, dependent coverage is required to be offered until the dependent reaches 30 years old. Adults who are covered under someone else's health insurance should check the details of their policies.
- An 18-year-old can vote. In America, people can vote at age 18 unless a court declares them unable to make decisions. To register to vote in Florida, one must be 18 years old on Election Day, a U.S. citizen, and a legal resident of the county where they plan to vote. Young people can register to vote at age 16 or any time after that. Registration forms are available at government offices and from county supervisors of elections. Voting is important because it lets you have a voice in making laws and policies.
- Young men are required to register for military service. Within 30 days of turning 18, all males, unless institutionalized or hospitalized, must register with the Selective Service.

What is Guardianship?

Guardianship is a legal arrangement that takes away an adult's right to make decisions about certain parts of their life. A court decides that the person is not capable of making these decisions on their own. The person under guardianship is called a "ward."

In Florida, the law says that even if a guardian has been appointed, they still have to think about what the person wants and let them be part of decisions about their life, as much as possible.

Whether a person can agree to a decision or not depends on how complicated and important the decision is. Some people who understand that they need help with making decisions might not need a guardian. They might just need advice, information, and support to consider other choices. There are other options instead of guardianship that can meet these needs.

Florida has different types of guardianship according to its laws. You can find more information about alternatives to guardianship in the next section.

Restoration of Capacity:

Restoration of Capacity is a legal option for individuals who have been assigned a guardian to have some or all of their rights reinstated. If the person under guardianship has regained the ability to exercise these rights since the guardianship proceedings, they can pursue the restoration of rights. This process involves going through the Court.

Alternatives to Guardianship

Family and Friends

Sometimes, when a person needs help with their personal and financial matters, the support and care of their family and friends can be sufficient to assist them in managing those affairs.

Supported Decision-Making

Supported Decision-Making is a process that we all go through when we make choices in our lives. Every day, we require assistance in decision-making. Sometimes, when service providers use specialized terms or unfamiliar language, like a car mechanic mentioning "OEM part" or "catalytic converter," or a doctor recommending a "CAT Scan," it can be difficult to understand. In such situations, we depend on trustworthy individuals such as friends, family members, advocates, or anyone we trust to help us comprehend. Once we receive the necessary information and guidance regarding the situation and the steps we should take, we become capable of making well-informed decisions. This is the essence of Supported Decision-Making.

Advanced Directives

This document expresses a person's wishes regarding healthcare or other important matters in advance. It is important that the person is of sound mind and capable of giving informed consent when signing this document. Some examples of such directives are:

Durable Power of Attorney: This legal document grants specific decision-making authority to a designated person. A DURABLE power of attorney remains valid even if the person becomes incapacitated and continues until their death.

Living Will: A legal document that guides the provision, withholding, or withdrawal of life-prolonging medical procedures if the person is unable to make decisions due to a terminal illness or being in a persistent vegetative state.

Health Care Surrogate: A written document that appoints another person as a representative to make medical decisions on one's behalf if they are unable to do so themselves. This document can include instructions about preferred treatments or preferences, similar to a living will. It is also possible to designate an alternate surrogate. It is important to discuss the responsibilities with the designated individuals and provide them with a copy of the document.

It is crucial to have at least two witnesses when creating an advance directive. The laws governing health care advance directives can be found in Chapter 765 of the Florida Statutes, which is available at local libraries or online at www.leg.state.fl.us.

Considering Age of Majority, Transfer of Rights and Decision-Making Options

Age of Majority and Transfer of Rights

According to the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA), the transfer of parental rights can take place "when a child with a disability reaches the age of majority under State law which applies to all children (except for a child with a disability who has been determined to be incompetent under State law)." In Florida, individuals reach the age of majority and receive the transfer of their rights at age 18 (Section 743.07, Florida Statutes (F.S.)).

Students Turning 18 - What to Expect

Preparing students for decision-making about their lives is a powerfully important process. Federal and state requirements include the following:

1. At the age of 18, students will have the right to make educational decisions.

- At least one year prior to a student turning 18, the student and parents must be notified that the transfer of rights to the student will occur at age 18. This must be done no later than the student's 17th birthday and must be documented in the individual education plan (IEP).
- A separate notice will be provided to the parents and student closer to, but still prior to, the student's 18th birthday.
- Additionally, House Bill (HB) 19 (2023) amends S. 1003.5716, F.S. to indicate the school district will provide "information and instruction to the student and his or her parent on self-determination and the legal rights and responsibilities regarding the educational decisions that transfer to the student upon attaining the age of 18. The information must include the ways in which the student may provide informed consent to allow his or her parent to continue to participate in educational decisions, including:
 - Informed consent to grant permission to access confidential records protected under the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) as provided in s. 1002.22.
 - · Powers of attorney as provided in Chapter 709, F.S.;
 - · Guardian advocacy as provided in s. 393.12, F.S; and
 - Guardianship as provided in Chapter 744, F.S." (HB 19 (2023) Individual Education Plans).

Eligibility for Supplemental Security Income (SSI) benefits will be re-determined using an adult disability standard (usually in the month before the 18th birthday).

3. "Health insurance may change. Florida law requires dependent coverage to be offered until the dependent is age 30. Adults whose health insurance covers youth should check their policies" (Disability Rights Florida, n.d.).

4. Students receive the right to vote and must register by mail or online with the state. One must turn 18 by election day to be eligible to vote in that election, but registration can be completed at age 16 and after (Disability Rights Florida).

5. All males are required to register for military service within 30 days of turning 18. There is not a general exemption from registration based on mental or physical condition, but there are certain criteria that can provide exemption. Find out more - Exemption from Selective Service Registration at https://www.sss.gov/faq/.

Decision-Making Alternatives: Choosing the Best Option with My Child

Florida legislation provides a system that permits persons with disabilities to participate in decision-making to the fullest extent possible.

Supported Decision-Making

Supported decisionmaking (SDM) is making one's own decisions with the option to get support from a group of trusted family members, friends and/or professionals. With this model, an individual can choose to make the decisions he/she wishes to make and choose to access assistance where needed. Francisco and Martinis explain, "[Supported decisionmaking] is just a fancy way of describing how we all make choices. We all need help making decisions, every single day."

https://supportmydecisi on.org/assets/tools/Sup ported-Decision-Making-Teams-Setting-the-Wheels-in-Motion.pdf SDM pilot projects are being conducted in multiple states, including Florida.

Banking Services

A power of attorney that specifies the agent has the authority to conduct banking transactions on behalf of the person includes the following: establish, continue, modify, or terminate a banking account; contract for services available from a financial institution: withdraw money or property of the principal deposited with or left in the custody of a financial institution. (Section 709.2208, F.S.)

Power of Attorney

A Power of Attorney is a legal document through which a person gives someone (agent) the authority to act on his/her behalf, and the individual maintains the right to act on behalf of himself/herself. A Durable Power of Attorney is when the authority to act on the person's behalf does not end if the person suffers mental incapacity at some point in the future. (Section 709.2102, F.S.)

Advance Directives

Advance Directives are witnessed, written documents or oral statements that express a person's desires concerning health care. A Living Will is an advanced directive that expresses a person's instructions regarding lifeprolonging procedures. A Health Care Surrogate is an advanced directive in which a person designates someone to make health care decisions and apply for health care benefits. (Section 744.3115, F.S.)

Trusts

A legal document called a Trust can be used to give someone the authority to manage the property of a person who needs or wants assistance. A Special Needs Trust assists a person with a disability to maintain needsbased benefits, such as medicaid health insurance by excluding certain assets and income. See Florida Medicaid.com for more information.

State Secondary Transition Interagency Committee, Florida Department of Education, Bureau of Exceptional Student Education When selecting a decision-making alternative with your child, it is suggested that the best option is the one that will give the child who is becoming an adult the maximum amount of decision-making ability while also safeguarding his/her health and general welfare. Some of the options listed below can be combined in a way that matches the level of assistance that your young adult needs. Finding the right balance between assistance and autonomy is the key to ensuring your child has the opportunity to lead the most self-determined life possible.

Mid-Range Choices

More Restrictive Choices

Medical Proxy

A Medical Proxy is used when a person is or has become unable to make health care decisions and an advance directive has not been established. The patient's legal guardian could be assigned as the medical proxy by a judge or others could serve as the medical proxy, such as the patient's spouse, adult child, parent or adult sibling. (Section 765.401, F.S.)

Representative Payee

A Representative Payee is an entity selected by the Social Security Administration (SSA) (preferably family or friends, but could be an organization) to manage an individual's SSA benefits. This means the beneficiary's benefits will go to the Representative Payee for appropriate use. The Social Security Administration (SSA) benefits must be used to provide food, clothing, shelter, medical care and personal comfort items for the SSA beneficiary. All remaining funds must be saved in an interest-bearing account or savings bonds to be used for the SSA beneficiary's future needs. (Section 402.33, F.S.)

Guardian Advocacy

Guardian Advocacy is available for persons with a developmental disability (DD). Individuals cannot be determined as in need of a guardian based only on the fact that they have a DD. However, if a person with a DD lacks the capacity to make some (not all) decisions related to care for person or property, a Guardian Advocate may be appointed by a circuit court to assist with decision-making in the areas of the person's needs. (Section 393.12, F.S.)

Guardianship

used when a person has been found to lack all capacities to care for self and property. The court (circuit court) will appoint a guardian to exercise all of a person's rights and powers that can be legally delegated. Limited Guardianship is used when a person has been found to lack capacities to exercise some, but not all, of their rights. The court will appoint a guardian to exercise rights that can legally be delegated. (Section 744.2102, F.S.)

Self-Determination and Self-Advocacy

Self-Determination & Self-Advocacy

Self-advocacy is the ability to speak and take action for oneself or a cause. It is a valuable skill that students develop during their youth and continue to use throughout their lives. Self-advocacy involves being assertive, understanding one's rights, negotiating, and speaking up for oneself or a cause.

Self-determination and self-advocacy are related concepts but have distinct meanings:

- 1. Self-determination: Self-determination refers to an individual's ability to control and direct their own life, make choices, and set goals based on their own preferences, values, and abilities. It emphasizes personal autonomy, independence, and the power to shape one's own future.
- 1. Self-advocacy: Self-advocacy is the act of speaking up and taking action on behalf of oneself. It involves actively asserting one's rights, needs, and preferences, and effectively communicating them to others. Self-advocacy empowers individuals to advocate for their own interests, access resources, and participate in decision-making processes that affect their lives.

In essence, self-determination focuses on the broader concept of personal autonomy and control over one's life, while self-advocacy specifically addresses the skills and actions involved in speaking up and advocating for oneself within various contexts and systems. Self-advocacy is one of the ways individuals exercise their self-determination.

The IEP team must discuss how a student is working towards meeting the requirements for a Standard Diploma but may defer receipt of the diploma and continue to receive ESE services.

Deferring the receipt of the standard diploma is utilized for a student with a disability in order to continue to receive a free, appropriate public education (FAPE). There are two parts to deferral of the standard diploma.

- First, a student must have an IEP that "prescribes special education, transition planning, transition services, or related services through 21." This is interpreted to mean that a student must require services to succeed.
- Second, a student must be enrolled in one of several specific educational programs.

The programs include:

- Accelerated College Credit- dual enrollment, early admission, advanced placement, International Baccalaureate (IB), or Advanced International Certificate of Education (AICE), and Early College Program
- A Structured Work Study, Internship, or Pre-Apprenticeship Program (SJCSD Transition Programs)

Students and IEP teams decide to defer during the year the student is expected to meet all the requirements for a standard diploma; the decision is documented in the student's IEP. Students must be on track to meet all credit, grade point average (GPA), and testing requirements for the standard diploma before deferment can begin. Students with disabilities who earn a standard diploma and do not defer are not eligible for further services from the school district. Considering deferral of the formal certification is particularly relevant for students with significant cognitive disabilities.

While in deferment status, students may have flexible scheduling. For example, they may not go to school every day or have a shorter daily schedule. Student attendance is expected as indicated by their Individualized Education Plan (IEP). Students may request their diploma any time during the deferment period and exit high school. Deferment is only required once and can end at any time requested by the family or adult student or upon the 22nd birthday, whichever comes first.

For students who choose to defer, enrolling in the Life Work Transition Program is necessary to continue receiving case management. Details about these programs can be found in the Transition Guide, and the Transition Program Application can be accessed on the St. Johns County School District Website under Transition Services.

The Life Work Transition Program provides a variety of customized services for students, including, but not limited to:

- Functional Academic instruction
- Academic support in Dual Enrollment courses
- Job coaching
- Job placement and retention
- Instruction in self-determination, self-advocacy, and daily living skills

Project SEARCH was developed at Cincinnati Children's Hospital Medical Center, a research environment that fosters visionary thinking and innovation.

It began in 1996 when Erin Riehle was the Cincinnati Children's Emergency Department director. Erin felt that, because the hospital served individuals with developmental disabilities as patients, it made sense that they should commit to hiring people in this group. She wondered if it would be possible to train people with developmental disabilities to fill some of the high-turnover, entry-level positions in her department.

These jobs involved complex and systematic tasks, such as stocking supply cabinets. To learn more about the feasibility of her idea, she turned to Great Oaks Career Campuses and the Hamilton County Board of Developmental Disability Services.

Through this outreach, Erin met Susie Rutkowski, then the special education director at Great Oaks. Erin and Susie formed a partnership that was instantaneous, and together they turned the idea of filling a handful of jobs in Cincinnati Children's Emergency Department into a comprehensive, internationally recognized program model — Project SEARCH.

The following must be recognized and/or completed in order for a student to be considered, eligible, for Project SEARCH.

- The student must have a disability, have graduated, and deferred the receipt of their standard diploma in order to continue receiving services through SJCSD.
- The student must apply and be approved as a consumer of Vocational Rehabilitation on the Adult Services Pathway and qualify for Supported Employment. Please contact your Vocational Rehabilitation Counselor to confirm you are on the correct VR pathway. The application process for Supported Employment may take several months.
- The student must apply to Project SEARCH through an application process provided by the program's Instructor.

- The student must undergo a Skills Assessment Day, located on site, to assess the student's level of vocational skills.
- If accepted, the student must commit to a one time, unpaid, 10-month internship program at The Renaissance World Golf Village Resort or Vicar's Landing at Oak Bridge in Ponte Vedra Beach.
- The student must not have any prior commitments (job, financial obligations, future moves out of district, etc.) that could interfere with Project SEARCH.
- The student's final goal at the end of their internships must be employment.

Additional Benefits and Outcomes

- Post-Secondary Training and Internship Experience at no cost
- Opportunity to work in a high-status organization and receive training through Marriot and Atrium Hospitality or the Vicar's Landing at Oak Bridge
- Professional Resume with References and letters of recommendation from Atrium and Marriot or Vicar's Landing at Oak Bridge.
- Official Project SEARCH Certification
- Travel Training, etc.

The Arc Jacksonville's High School High Tech Program

The High School High Tech (HSHT) program is provided by The Arc Jacksonville through a grant from The Able Trust. The program is designed to provide high school students with disabilities (504 or IEP) the opportunity to explore jobs and/or postsecondary education leading to technology-related careers in Science, Technology, Engineering, and Math (STEM). HSHT links youth to a broad range of academic, career development, and experiential resources and experiences that will enable them to meet the demands of the 21st century workforce. The students have fun while they are learning, and they get to see how STEM works in the real world.

This program is a community-based partnership comprised of students, parents/caregivers, businesses, educators, and rehabilitation professionals. It has been shown to reduce the high school dropout rate and increase the overall selfesteem of participating students.

HSHT is currently at Creekside High School.

The Arc Jacksonville's On Campus Transition Program

Students with intellectual differences enjoy the college experience through The Arc Jacksonville On Campus Transition (OCT) program at the University of North Florida. Through OCT, young adults ages 18-26 can transition into adulthood alongside their contemporaries, maturing together in an environment that fosters independence while including supports.

OCT's program of study focuses on: academic enhancement, career development, university life, health/personal growth, and independent living/community life. Students are encouraged and empowered to act as self-advocates and to further enhance their self-determination.

The Arc Jacksonville's OCT serves persons ages 18-26, who have completed four years of high school. OCT students become immersed in all aspects of college life by: auditing UNF courses, joining campus organizations and clubs, and participating in recreational/leisure activities that are available to all UNF students.

OCT students also have the opportunity to live in either on or off-campus student housing, and they receive small group tutoring and mentoring by UNF students.

Vocational Rehabilitation (VR)

- Pre-ETS Referral Pathway
- Adult Services Referral Pathway

Website: http://rehabworks.org/

Frequently asked questions:

How do I know which VR Pathway/Application to choose?

Determining the appropriate VR Pathway/Application depends on the age of the student and the services they are seeking. If the student is still in school, aged 14 to 21, and interested in supplemental supports, career camps, or career exploration through Vocational Rehabilitation, we recommend the Student and Youth (Pre-ETS) pathway. This program provides opportunities for sponsored career counseling, work readiness training, and fully-integrated work experiences in the community. These services are delivered while students are still in high school and establish the foundation for a seamless transition to individualized training, education, and employment. Examples of services under this pathway include Career Camps, High School High Tech, Inclusive Postsecondary Education, and the Youth Leadership Forum.

On the other hand, if the student is preparing to graduate and planning to end deferment, we recommend the Adult Services Pathway. This pathway includes all the services available to Pre-ETS students, with additional supports for Deaf, Hard of Hearing, and Deafblind individuals, Independent Living, Supported Employment, Assistance with navigating Social Security Benefits, and Self-Employment.

If you have specific questions to determine if the student is an existing client or which path the student should pursue, please contact the local Vocational Rehabilitation office at (904) 797-6250. Once the application is complete, the IEP team will submit it to the District Office, which will upload it into the VR Portal. Please note that without an information release on file, Vocational Rehabilitation will not discuss an applicant's status or pathway. Therefore, we recommend submitting this completed document along with the student's application.

What information does the student/parent need to authorize we release?

Please check the "other" box and write in, "SJCSD personnel may share and receive information about my student to aid with case management."

Where do I send the documents once they have been completed?

Please submit them to the District Office using the Microsoft Submission Form. Please place all original files inside the student's cumulative folder. Kindly refrain from sending files via email or interoffice mail.

When will I hear from a VR Representative?

Once this form has been submitted to Vocational Rehabilitation, a team member will contact you within five business days via mail, email, or telephone. If you have specific questions regarding the status of your application, please feel free to contact the local Vocational Rehabilitation office at (904) 797-6250. Please note that the caller ID may display Department of Education.

What is Pre-Employment Transition Services?

Pre-Employment Transition Services (Pre-ETS) offer students with disabilities an early start at career exploration and preparation for adult life.

Beginning at age 14, students with disabilities can connect with VR for Pre-ETS. VR works with students, their families, their schools and community partners to enrich transition planning and support students with gaining knowledge and experiences necessary so they may make informed decisions about their future.

Under the Workforce Innovation and Opportunities Act (WIOA), every student (ages 14-21) with a disability has the opportunity to participate in Pre-Employment Transition Services (Pre-ETS). This includes:

- Job-exploration counseling
- Work readiness training
- Work-based learning experience
- Postsecondary educational counseling, and
- Self-advocacy training and peer mentoring

Students with disabilities may participate in Pre-ETS without having to apply to VR or be determined eligible for services. The focus is to develop work skills, practice social skills and acquire a network of community supports while the student is still in high school.

Independent Living Program

About the Independent Living Program

The Florida Department of Education, Division of Vocational Rehabilitation's (VR) Independent Living Program promotes and supports a philosophy of independent living for persons with significant disabilities who wish to maintain or increase their level of independence. This state/federal partnership funds 16 Centers for Independent Living (CIL) throughout Florida. An essential part of the Independent Living Program is the State Independent Living Council (SILC). In Florida, SILC is operated by the Florida Independent Living Council.

Centers for Independent Living

A CIL is a local not-for-profit that is consumer-controlled and provides a minimum of five core services that support independent living outcomes for persons with disabilities. Each CIL offers additional independent living services as determined by the needs of the community and the individuals seeking assistance. CILs provide services to maximize the leadership, empowerment, independence and productivity of individuals with disabilities. The overall goal of services provided by CILs is to achieve the integration and full inclusion of individuals with disabilities into mainstream American society.

Five Core Services Provided by Florida Centers for Independent Living

- 1. Information and referral
- 2. Independent living-skills training
- 3. Individual and systems advocacy
- 4. Peer counseling
- Transition from a nursing home to the community or diversion of individuals from institutional placement; and assisting youth (14-24 years old) with post-secondary life and opportunities.

The Florida Independent Living Council

The Florida Independent Living Council (FILC) has the responsibility of developing the State Plan for Independent Living (SPIL) to further guide and support independent living services for Floridians with the most-significant disabilities. Council members are appointed by the governor to ensure the independent living needs of persons with disabilities are represented through the SPIL statewide. The SPIL requires that the FILC gather input from across Florida on the independent needs of persons with disabilities. Independent Living Services that support individuals' achieving goals in education, employment, affordable housing or transition from nursing homes to the community are addressed by the SPIL. Council members evaluate the existing SPIL on an on-gong basis. The SPIL provides direction to the Council and CILs on initiating outreach to identify and reach underserved populations so that they can benefit from independent living services. Both CILs and the FILC were created by federal and state legislation to support individuals with disabilities in maintaining or increasing their ability to live independently.

The Florida Department of Education, Division of Vocational Rehabilitation (VR) is an equal opportunity employer. It is against the law for VR as a recipient of Federal financial assistance to discriminate against any individual in the United States on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, political affiliation or belief. The application process used by VR to determine eligibility for services, any subsequent services and the entire VR process are subject to these non-discrimination requirements. Auxiliary aids and services are available upon request to individuals with disabilities. VR program receives 78.7 percent of its funding through a grant from the U.S. Department of Education. For the 2021 Federal fiscal year, the total amount of grant funds awarded were $176,836,896. The remaining 21.3 percent of the costs ($47,860,557) were funded by Florida State Appropriations. Revised October 2021.

Supported and Complementary Employment Services

The Arc Jacksonville On Campus Transition at UNF

OCT Mission Statement

The OCT mission is to provide an innovative college experience for young adults with intellectual disabilities or differences, while providing transformational learning experiences to university students, college educators, and community leaders.

Who Are We?

The Arc Jacksonville (Arc) and UNF partnered to create this innovative program, to provide young adults with intellectual differences the unique opportunity of having a transformational college experience as an integral part of their transition to independence. Students participate in all aspects of college life by auditing UNF courses, joining campus organizations and clubs, and participating in recreational/leisure activities that are enjoyed by all UNF students. Students are mentored in academic, social, and recreation activities through mentoring programs with UNF student peers.

The THRIVE Program at UNF

What is THRIVE?

Across the nation, hundreds of individuals with autism spectrum disorders (ASD) are applying and enrolling in institutions of higher education. The THRIVE Program at the University of North Florida (UNF), created and developed by dedicated staff within the Student Accessibility Center (SAC) and the College of Education and Human Services (COEHS), is proud to serve students with ASD as they transition to and experience life at UNF.

The Transition to Healthiness, Resourcefulness, Independence, Vocation, and Education (THRIVE) program was first developed in 2012, under the direct guidance of the former DRC director with the help of three UNF students. THRIVE supports students with ASD at UNF throughout college to ensure their experience is both successful and fulfilling. THRIVE believes that these basic supplemental services should be provided to students at no additional cost, and is free to all eligible students.

Our Mission

The THRIVE program is unique to UNF and provides supplemental resources for degree-seeking students with ASD at the UNF. THRIVE focuses on four primary areas of need:

- Social skills
- · Independent living skills
- Career development skills
- Executive functioning skills

THRIVE aims to help students achieve competency in these crucial skills for use both within and outside the college setting, preparing them for life beyond UNF. Autism affects individuals in different ways, which is why THRIVE is not a one-size-fits-all program; our ever-developing supports are designed to meet the individual needs of each student. Participation in THRIVE is voluntary, and students who put in the effort will get the most out of the program. For more detailed information on what THRIVE can (and cannot) do, see Functions of THRIVE.
